

GRADUATE CERTIFICATE IN LATINX AND LATIN AMERICAN EDUCATION STUDIES

West Chester University's graduate certificate in Latinx and Latin American Education Studies provides an in-depth exploration of educational philosophies and practices from Latin America, emphasizing community, cultural relevance, and social justice. These approaches foster a critical perspective on how educational systems impact marginalized populations and how education can serve as a powerful tool for transformation.

This fully online program consists of four courses (12 credits), allowing you to earn your certificate conveniently and efficiently. As demographics continue to shift in the United States and globally, this certificate equips you to address the needs of increasingly diverse communities, empower learners, and effect positive change. It also qualifies for Continuing Education (CCE) credits, benefiting both educators and social workers.
