WELCOME TO NEW CSD STUDENTS!

Welcome to the undergraduate program in the Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders! We hope that you will find your experience here to be pleasant, challenging and rewarding.

The Communication Sciences and Disorders Undergraduate Student Handbook is intended as a supplement to the following important sources of information which are available online:

- ◆ WCU's current Undergraduate Catalog
- ◆ The Ram's Eye View

The Handbook has been prepared to provide students with an overview and a guide to useful information about the Department and about the Bachelor of Arts (BA) degree program in Communication Sciences and Disorders. We ask that you keep this Handbook throughout your association with the Department and with your personal professional records. The information will be helpful in planning and recording your progress through the undergraduate program, and it may be useful later for documenting aspects of the BA experience. Additionally, we ask that you bring this Handbook to all scheduling conferences with your academic advisor.

Please note that Communication Sciences and Disorders Handbook is updated at least once a year while WCU's Undergraduate Catalog is updated once every two years. If you find a discrepancy between the two, please ask your academic advisor for clarification.

You are also encouraged to check with your academic advisor once a semester to verify that your date of graduation is on track. The faculty is here to support you, but the responsibility for completing all requirements, for conforming to current policies, and for meeting all deadlines is ultimately your own.

The faculty of the Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders look forward to a rewarding association with you. We hope that you will take advantage of all that our Department and the University have to offer.

Academic Requirements

The Bachelor of Arts (BA) degree in Communication Sciences and Disorders (CSD) is a pre-professional degree that provides students with basic knowledge of human communication and disorders of communication to prepare for a career in audiology, speech-language pathology, speech and hearing science, or general health science. Appendix A offers a full plan of study for the CSD major. For completion of a degree in CSD, the following requirements must be met:

1) Restrictive Major Requirement (RMR)

Prior to matriculation into the major, students must complete all designated RMR courses with a “C” or better (see Appendix B). The RMR courses are entry-level courses comprised of both CSD and general education courses. Success in these courses are critical for long term success within the major. In addition to the letter grade requirement of a “C” or better, students must earn a cumulative GPA of at least a 3.0 across all RMR courses, without using more than three repeats across the CSD courses (CSD 101, CSD 106, CSD 203, and CSD 207).

2) Letter Grade Requirement

Following matriculation into the major, all CSD courses within the major must be completed with a grade of “C” or better. Grades of “C-”, “D”, or “F” earned in major CSD courses must be repeated the next time the course is offered and raised to a “C” or better.

3) Cognate Areas

In addition to the major requirements offered by the CSD department, all students entering the major in Fall 2023 must complete courses from four cognate areas. These are courses from both inside and outside the major that have been identified to increase your understanding of communication disorders and health science. Students must complete at least one course within the following cognate areas:

1. Research Skills
2. Human Communication
3. Linguistics
4. Human Development

Please note that students who entered the major before Fall 2023 are required to complete an additional two cognate areas: (5) Human Behavior and Service and (6) Human Abnormalities. A list of cognate area courses for students entering the major in Fall 2023 can be found in Appendix C. The list of cognate courses for students who entered the major prior to Fall 2023 can be found in Appendix F. Please note that this list is continually updated, and it is recommended that you consult with your advisor prior to selecting any cognate course.

4) Graduation Requirements

To graduate with a BA in Communication Sciences and Disorders, students must meet the following criteria:

- Students must attain both an overall and major GPA of at least 2.5 by the time of graduation.
- Students must have completed all general education requirements that are specified in the WCU Academic Catalog for the year that the student was most recently accepted into WCU.
- Students must have completed all courses required by the major/minor, including all supporting (cognate) courses.
- Students must have completed all degree requirements within the semester in which they intend to graduate.

- Students must fulfill the resident credit requirement. This requires at least 30 of the last 60 credits be earned at WCU and at least 50% of the major/minor be earned at WCU, excluding cognate courses.
- Students must clear all holds and financial obligations to the University, including payment of the graduation fee, the return of any University property, and any other obligations.
- Students must complete and compile all academic requests, including applying for graduation through myWCU, by the deadline posted on the Office of the Registrar's website.

We recommend that each student to track individual progress using the plan of study in Appendix A. Furthermore, students can follow their individual degree completion using the Degree Progress Report (DPR) under myWCU. Information on accessing your DPR can be found here: <https://www.wcupa.edu/registrar/dpr.aspx>.

Requirements for Transfer Students

Students who transfer into the CSD program are required to meet all requirements as defined above. Students transferring from an outside major into CSD must have a GPA of at least 2.5 prior to matriculating into the CSD program. In addition to the outlined requirements, students must complete an "Academic Plan Change Request" via myWCU. This must be completed one all RMR requirements have been met. Instructions for completing the Academic Plan Change Request can be found here: <https://www.wcupa.edu/registrar/documents/SubmitanAcademicPlanChangeRequest.pdf>.

Requirements for Honors College Students

Students enrolled in the honors college must complete both the requirements as defined by the CSD program and by the Honors College. Please note that substitutions may be available due to HON course overlap. Consult with your advisor to discuss situations where this may be the case. The advisement plan for honors students can be found in Appendix D.

Accelerated B.A./M.A. Program

The accelerated B.A. in CSD to M.A. in Speech-Language Pathology enables students to prepare for a career in Speech-Language Pathology at a more focused rate. This program allows students to move seamlessly from an undergraduate to graduate program with no loss of credits. The estimated timeline for completion on the accelerated track is five years.

To be considered for the accelerated program, students must have attained (completed) 72 credits and have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.7 and a minimum major GPA of 3.7. Students in the accelerated program can substitute up to 12 credits of graduate course work for electives that satisfy the B.A. program requirements. Students considering the accelerated program are advised of the following undergraduate course recommendations:

- Students are encouraged to take 2 credits of electives during the first fall semester to complete 18 credits, avoiding summer or winter class(es).
- Students should take PHI 180 to satisfy Humanities and Ethics simultaneously.
- To complete the Diverse Communities (J) requirement, students should (1) take CSD 270 to satisfy Area 2 or (2) find one Foreign Language Culture Cluster courses that satisfies the J requirement.
- Students should take PSY/RUX 215 to satisfy Area 5 and Speaking-emphasis course simultaneously.
- Students should take SOC 350 to satisfy Area 6 and Interdisciplinary (I) requirement simultaneously.
- The B.A. degree in CSD is conferred at the end of fall semester in Year 4.

The plan of study for the Accelerated B.A./M.A. program can be found in Appendix E.

Student Conduct Policy

A goal of the Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders is to prepare students for a successful career as speech-language pathologists. Part of this effort includes attention to patterns of conduct that are appropriate in academic and clinical settings. Examples of appropriate behavior can be found in the Student Code of Conduct of the Ram's Head University Catalog. The Student Code of Conduct can be accessed virtually at the following link: <https://www.wcupa.edu/services/conduct/documents/studentCodeofConduct.pdf>. Additional expectations are listed below:

- Interaction with the instructor: The student promotes a professional and effective relationship with the instructor; is willing to accept constructive written and/or verbal feedback from the instructor.
- Interaction with other departmental, college, and/or support staff: The student maintains a professional relationship; shows respect; values the positions of faculty and support staff.
- Personal appearance, mannerisms, and values: The student dresses appropriately to the situation and learning environment; conducts themselves professionally in speech through appropriate verbal, written, and non-verbal communication patterns, in personal habits, and in mannerisms; exhibits fair, consistent, and equitable treatment of all; respects civil rights and confidentiality of all; demonstrates civility and respect for diversity; sees the worth of others and dignity in others; and works effectively with peers in collaborative ways.
- Adherence to class policies: The student is punctual; and observes schedules, regulations, and expectations of the university-student relationship.
- Attendance and responsibility: The student is reliable and regular in attendance according to the standards set by the instructor and the university; fulfills course obligations; notifies appropriate persons/submits necessary documentation if absent; carries through on assigned responsibilities; and demonstrates attentive behaviors during class discussion and lecture presentations.
- Level of preparedness: The student shows evidence of being well-prepared for class academically and attitudinally; shows willingness to approach tasks in an organized and skillful manner; and demonstrates appropriate professional content in assignments.

Consequences of Conduct Violations

To protect the rights of students and faculty (academic and clinical), due process procedures will be followed when a complaint regarding behavior is alleged. These procedures are consistent with those described under "Academic Policies and Procedures" in the Undergraduate Student Handbook and in the Student Code of Conduct in the Ram's Eye View. Student and faculty are obligated to adhere strictly and consistently to the following procedural hierarchy:

Step 1: When a faculty member observes a conduct violation, they will inform the student that a conduct violation has been observed and discuss the violation with the student. The discussion should include the following elements:

- an objective behavioral description of the violation
- an opportunity for the student to provide their perspective on the violation
- a plan to avoid a similar violation (or perception thereof) in the future

Preferably, this discussion should be a supportive one between the student and the faculty member.

In unusual circumstances when the faculty member has objective reasons, the faculty member may invite a third person to join the conversation. The third person must be selected from the following hierarchy: Academic Advisor, BA

Coordinator, Chairperson. If a third person is invited to the meeting, the student must be informed in advance and must be provided with the opportunity to invite an advocate. During the meeting, the second faculty member and the advocate will serve as passive observers and refrain from participating in the discussion. The overarching goal of this meeting is to turn the apparent conduct disorder into a learning opportunity for both the student and the faculty member. If the tone of the meeting escalates in a negative manner, the student or the instructor may terminate the meeting and request a follow up at Step 2.

At the end of Step 1 whether the conduct violation was discussed between the student and the faculty member or whether it was discussed between the student, faculty member, and third party, the faculty member will send a summary of the contents of the meeting to the student with a copy to the student's academic advisor. This summary will not be placed in the student's academic file. However, if an academic advisor receives more than one summary of a meeting at step 1 for the same student, the potential for a pattern of inappropriate conduct will be discussed at the following faculty meeting.

Step 2: If the faculty member and the student are unable to resolve the problem at Step 1, the student should be referred to their academic advisor for further discussion of the conduct issue. With the advice of the academic advisor, the student or faculty member may then request a meeting with the BA Coordinator. This meeting will be attended by the student, the faculty member who initiated the complaint, and the academic advisor. The purpose of this meeting is to provide the BA Coordinator with an opportunity to mediate and recommend further action. The possible outcomes of this meeting may include:

- Dismissal of the complaint
- A plan for remediation with the student and faculty member
- A written recommendation for remediation to be placed in the student's department file
- Follow-up to ensure completion of the remediation plan with the student and the faculty member.
- Documented completion of the remediation plan in the student's academic file

If the advisor recommends that the problem be brought to the attention of the BA Coordinator, then the BA Coordinator will oversee all events at Step 2. If the BA Coordinator is the faculty member who initiated the complaint, the Department Chairperson will oversee the Step 2 process.

Step 3: If the problem is not resolved with Step 2, then the instructor or the student may bring the issue to the Department Chair. The possible outcomes of this meeting may include:

- Dismissal of the complaint
- In cases of extreme ethical violations, such as cheating or plagiarism, a recommendation that the student be dismissed from the program.
- Completion of remediation activity as outlined above in Step 2

Step 4: If the student disagrees with the decision of the Department Chairperson, they may then appeal the decision to the Associate Dean of the College of Health Sciences. The Associate Dean's decision should be considered final unless other provisions are available as per University policy.
