Note: Students are required to take 3 Writing Emphasis (W) courses (one at the 300-400 level). PSY246 is a W course. It is assumed that students will fulfill their remaining W requirements by taking courses required for the major or to satisfy General Education requirements (e.g., E or S course) that are also designated Writing Emphasis (W) requirements. If not, free elective W courses will be needed.*

If students acquire their attribute courses (I, J, W, S, E) from courses that 'count' in other categories (e.g., PSY Applied Experience, a J that is also a E), more Free Electives should be taken to achieve at least 120 credits.

It is recommended that students who intend to attend graduate school take PSY410 or 441 earlier than Spring semester of their 3rd year and repeat it for credit using PSY or Free Electives. PSY 410 may be taken up to 5 times (15 credits), but only 3 of 5 attempts (9 of 15 credits) will count towards the major.*
